

Herbal-Care

WHO WE ARE

Herbal-Care, a unit of PhytoMed Service, is a contract research organization dedicated to development of herbal products. After years of intensive research, the founder of the company has gained precious knowledge about chemistry and pharmacology of herbal ingredients. We develop innovative herbal medicines, functional foods and herbal food supplements. Our goal is full customer satisfaction.

FUNCTIONAL FOOD OR FOOD SUPPLEMENT – A NEW CHALLENGE

Natural product based functional food or food supplement market is growing worldwide. Medicinal plants and herbs are renewable raw materials and products that are formulated by experienced natural product chemists, have rarely side effects. However, often herbal health foods are marketed with claims that are far beyond reality. Development of Functional Foods with genuine health benefits and safety is a challenge and needs guidance from experienced experts. We at Herbal-Care are your dependable partner for development of innovative herbal products.

PHYTOMEDICINE – THERE IS MUCH SCOPE FOR NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Phyto-medicines or herbal medicines are still not explored to full extent. A properly selected combination of plant extracts not only exhibits synergetic effect but also possesses positive effects like liver protection and attenuation of immune system. We help our clients to select proper ingredients and launch innovative products.

WHY ARE WE SPECIAL?

Experts of medicinal plants

We have profound knowledge of chemistry and pharmacology of medicinal plants. Our expertise is gained through years of research on medicinal plants from all over the world. Many chronic diseases can be efficiently treated with phyto-pharmaceuticals. Special emphasis can be made here on our experience with Indian medicinal plants, which contain unique constituents having valuable properties.

We offer very competitive price

Generally it is believed that development of a new herbal medicine costs several millions. This is not always the case. We help our customer to save cost in every way. From product concept until finished product our total cost is substantially lower than usual market price. If our client has an in-house team to deal with regularity affairs, we gladly cooperate with them; otherwise we work with our own cooperation partners, who take care of regulatory aspects.

Our time saving aspect

Our dedicated team work with full concentration showing high rate of progress, because we know that time is money. A product development project is managed by us with high skill, maintaining time and cost plants at every stage. We can bring the product idea to market in shortest possible time.

OUR SERVICES

Following is a short account of what our clients receive from us upon signing a contract.

Concept development

First we seek answers to the following questions:

- What is the underneath cause of the disease or ailment from biochemical aspect”?
- Is a remedy for elimination of the cause possible?
- Is a remedy for treating the symptoms possible?

The answers lead us to the selection of right kind of plant or combination of plants. We choose traditional herbs with long history of human use and established pharmacological properties.

Analytical development

Our next concern is development of the analytical methods for quality control and Method validation according to the ICH guidelines.

Formulation development and stability test

A suitable Dosage form, which is usually tablet or capsule, is developed. Different kinds of packing materials are available for selection. Test batches are produced for stability testing over a period of 12 to 24 months and for pharmacological and clinical trials.

Clinical trial

Our Clinical research division PhytoMed Service conduct clinical trial in India for a very competitive price. If you wish the clinical trial to be conducted in Germany, this can be organized and our price is much competitive than others. Please ask for PhytoMed Service brochure.

Marketing support

Our client may avail extensive marketing support from us including product literature, Product hand book for physician or naturopaths, product registration as functional food or dietary supplements and Expert’s report for marketing authorization.

OUR PRODUCTS

Several innovative products have been formulated by us, which are being developed as finished products. Our clients can either acquire a licence or contract us to develop a chosen product. A product development by contract costs considerably less, because our money will not be blocked during development.

OUR SPECIAL RAW MATERIALS

For products that we develop, we standardize and optimize the extraction process to ensure best quality. Our products contain certified standardized extracts.
